DELEGATES to the Republican State Convention are elected to-day. It is rumored that they are to serve in the interest of the probable Democratic nominee, Cassidy. The rumor is not simply local, but it is wide-spread; it has been put into print; it has reached the ears of Nevada's friends in the extreme east and throughout our sister State west. It is currently reported and believed that Republican big game hunters are securing the mountains and valleys of the sagebrush State in search of a weak, unfortunate Republican victim for Congressional honors. Little Republicans have become alarmed, and each advises his particular aspiring friend to stand aside this year and let Cassidy, "the king of glory," pass by. The corporations want Cassidy, it is said, and the people will "tumble to the racket." Cassidy is to be congratulated, but how about the Republican party? How is it, Republican delegates, you who have the honor of the party and the fair reputation of this State in your hands? Do you spurn the base insinuation? We believe you do. Will you prostitute the name Nevada by being drawn aside through the seductive words of any political harlot? We have too much confidence in the virtue of Nevada's leading citizens to admit that death lurks anywhere in the political pot that is now seething. We are too proud of being of the battle-born State to admit that the leaders have already promised to lead at the proper time the Republican party into the ambush of the enemy. No, this cannot be; the Republican party is composed of too honorable men for that. Whether Woodburn, the present incumbent, or whomever the nominee be, let him be the strongest and best man; let the lie be given to the rumor current that would bring into reproach Nevada's escutcheon. Relative to the rumor let the sentiment of the united delegation to the Republican State Convention at Winnemucca be, as we believe it will be, "out, damned spot!"

AN important issue now before the people, says the Cleveland Sun, is that of the silver question. It is well known that the Administration is opposed to the coinage of silver, but it will have the opportunity to still further alienate the people of the Pacific coast on this subject. The question of further coinage has already been raised. It is proposed that so fast as national bank notes are retired, their place shall be taken by the coinage of silver. This proposition, which has already passed the Senate, and will in all probability pass the House, will make it necessary for Mr. Cleveland to again act upon the mooted question. Months ago he officially stated that the country was practically going to the demoniac howl by the amount of coinage that is now going forward. If that be true, the additional coinage to take the place of the retiring notes will hasten the destruction. The President will therefore be obliged to veto the law, thus seriously offending the people of the Pacific coast, or, if he sign the bill, he will sanction something which he believes to be deleterious to the interests of the country, and will bring down the far-famed "gold-bugs" of the East upon his back. This will be an unpleasant predicament for Grover to face.

THE Indiana Democratic Convention comes out squarely for free trade and spoils. It declared for free and honest elections, and counted among its candidates for delegates to the National Convention one of the indicted tally-sheet forgers. The Maine Republican Convention pronounces for protection to American industry, reduction of internal revenue taxation, civil service reform and a foreign policy worthy of the dignity of the nation.

PRESIDENT Cleveland's civil service principles seem to have departed him. There is no longer any objection to Federal office holders doing all they can for the administration or the Democratic party. They will both need all the help they can get between now and the day of November.

THE Genoa Courier has entered upon a new volume. It has been an able advocate of the interests of Douglas county and deserves the earnest support of the people of Carson valley.

OVER THE WIRES.

HANGING BEE.

Three Men Swing into Eternity at Fort Smith, Arkansas.

FORT SMITH, Ark., April 23.—Three men—Jack Crow, George Moss and Owen D. Hill—were hanged here yesterday for crimes committed in the Indian Territory. All the men were negroes with Indian blood. The crime for which Moss was hanged was the murder of George Taft, a man of prominence in the Chickasaw nation, last fall in the Red River valley. Taft, while out looking for cattle, met Moss, Dick Butler, Factor Jones and Sandy Smith. They had just shot a yearling, and, fearing Taft would report the matter to the Citizens' Committee, they ambushed and shot him. Butler and Jones were lynched on the way to jail, and Smith died pending trial.

Jack Crow was convicted of the murder of Charles Wilson, a prominent Choctaw politician, during the last election excitement.

Hill was convicted of the murder of his wife in the Creek Nation about a year ago.

Jeff Hildebrandt, Edmund Patterson and John Southland were to have been executed today, but the former two have been given a ten days' respite and Southland's sentence was commuted to imprisonment for life.

THE POPE SPEAKS.

He Condemns the Plan of Campaign in Ireland.

LONDON, April 23.—The statement that the Pope has issued a decree condemning the plan of campaign in Ireland is confirmed. His Holiness says he does so because he is convinced that the plan of campaign is illegal. He says he is also convinced that land courts will redress all unfair rents. Another circumstance that influenced him, he says, is the fact that funds are extorted from contributors to the plan. The Pope condemns boycotting as a practice contrary to justice and charity. He makes no mention of the National League.

DUBLIN, April 27.—The Freeman's Journal urges the people to exercise calmness and patience, and to receive the papal decrees with profound respect and loyalty to Rome. It declares that boycotting is rare.

NATIONALISTS AGITATED.

LONDON, April 28.—The Nationalist members of Parliament are somewhat agitated over the Pope's decree, and are eagerly conferring as to what steps are necessary in view of its appearance.

BOSTON, April 27.—John L. Sullivan acted disgracefully on the way over from Liverpool. He got so drunk one day that the Captain threatened to put him in irons. John beat a woman on board, and the gentlemen would have banded together to thrash him if a friend of Sullivan's had not begged them not to. Sullivan, while on board, was in a row with a steward, and the latter hit him a fearful blow with a soda syphon—Sullivan didn't mind the blow. The Captain of the Colonia gave explicit orders to the officers and crew not to mention the state of affairs during the twelve days' voyage to any newspaper man, and he himself refuses to say anything further than that in due time he will make a statement.

RESERVOIRS FOR NEVADA.

An Old Nevanan Gives His Views on This All Important Subject.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—No matter what may be done to naturalize or climatize certain plants or cereals in the arid belt, the main reliance of the people of Nevada must ultimately and almost universally rest upon irrigation for securing the principal productions of the soil. Inasmuch as there are few great streams of water to be utilized for purposes of irrigation, the attention of our people must be given to the best artificial means of providing for a supply of water during the dry season, when it is most imperatively needed. All engineers of ancient and modern times agree that the most practicable plan is by the construction of reservoirs. Fortunately, Nevada is well adapted to a method of this kind. Being interspersed with mountain ranges the greatest natural advantages for such a series of works are offered. There is not a valley in the State which could not be put under the influence of foothill reservoirs if the effort should be made. It will cost money, of course, and it is probable so great an undertaking will never be accomplished by private enterprise. There is reason to hope that it may be brought within the province of National endeavor under the head of internal improvements. Such a policy would be entirely proper, and thoroughly consistent with American ideas and precedents. The question as to how this should be accomplished is a matter of secondary moment. If the National Government should make the appropriation direct and have the work done by army engineers and government contractors no one would complain, but probably the better idea would be for the government to grant the State a sufficient amount of public lands to cover the cost.

Speaking of this subject as applied to Colorado, the Denver Republican says: "Either plan is good. The most important consideration is to have the work done." I am not urging these thoughts as anything new, but simply to try and impress upon the people of the State the united and constant effort in demanding what they need and must have at the hands of the General Government. The people of the Pacific Coast clamored for a Chinese exclusion law until now they are about to realize their hopes in that regard. Nevada's citizens helped as much as any in that work. If we are equally interested in the matter of irrigation reservoirs the object will be finally accomplished. It will take time, undoubtedly, but government will finally be crowned with success.

THE BIG PINE MURDER.

"Rough Elliott, a Well-Known Desperado, Kills John White. Telegrams were received at Independence, Inyo county, Cal., this morning, says the Index of the 25th inst., announcing that W. T. C. Elliott had stabbed and killed John White at Big Pine. The first intelligence received was a dispatch from Elliott requesting that an officer be sent to arrest him, clearly indicating that the murderer feared an outraged public and did not dare to come to the county seat to give himself up. Later news is to the effect that Elliott was in the cellar at the home of his recently divorced wife, cutting meat, when Mr. White went down and ordered him away. Elliott at once turned and stabbed him. White went up stairs, out of the house and dropped dead. The trouble occurred at 8 o'clock this morning.

Less than three months ago Elliott's wife procured a divorce, but he was allowed to remain on the premises for a limited time to settle some business matters, with the express understanding that he was not to molest her in any way. This he did, however, and Mr. White, a relative of Mrs. Elliott's, was sent for to protect her. Mr. White went up from Larwin only yesterday.

John White, a brother-in-law of A. N. Bell of Independence, was an old resident of Inyo county and one of our very best and most respected citizens. He was aged 59 years, and his sad death in the discharge of a sacred duty imposed by manhood as well as by relationship is most sincerely regretted. Elliott, his brutal murderer, has long been known as "Rough" Elliott, and those who best know him say the nickname is a just tribute to his debased character.

The Fashionably Bred Standard Trotting Stallion

MAJESTY!

DESCRIPTION: Color, dark bay with one white hind foot; 15 1/2 hands high, weighs 1,050 pounds, fine form and action, very gentle disposition, sound in every respect; two years old on the 8th of May, 1888; well broken to drive; has never been trained.

PEDIGREE—Sire, "Stirling" by Egmont, he by Belmont, sire of "Nutwood, Goldsmith Maid and other fast ones. Dam, Lady Baldwin, by the Moor, dam of Bay Rose, 2:29.

This combination of two of the fastest strains of blood this country has ever produced cannot fail to trot fast, and be one of the most popular breeding stallions to be found. This colt has grown very fast, and is large for his age, but well-proportioned and symmetrical, and has not been worked for speed on account of his rapid growth. He shows enough speed to warrant the hope that he will maintain the high opinion we have of him. The first time he was shown at the California State Fair he took the premium for the

Best Standard-Bred Trotting Colt

In the Sweepstakes. This colt is offered for the sum of $600, which is lower by 50 per cent than any colt of equal breeding ever brought that we know of.

THE TROUBLE WITH CODFISH

Hard to Make it Palatable After it Has Been so Long in the Ocean.

We accepted the urgent invitation of the foreman of a Crook county, Wyo., stock ranch to stop and take dinner with him one afternoon. As we sat down to the meal he passed a suspicious looking dish and said: "That's what they call codfish with me," replied Uriar, politely. "That may not, though," continued our host as he slipped his knife on his boot leg before helping himself to some butter. "I've had the doggonest time rastiin' with that air critter of a fish that I ever had in all the cookin' I ever done."

"What was the trouble with it?" "So thunderin' salt! That is the fourth or fifth whack I've took at it, tryin' to git up a mess that we could eat 'bout rastiin' down to a deep place in the creek an' standin' in the water up to our necks the rest of the day."

"Worse'n I ever tackled, anyhow. You see, I sent down after it by Shorty, here, and told him to git a big un—we'd been havin' bacon every meal for between three and four years, an' I was bound to have a change or bust. 'Shorty' packed it home tied onto the saddle, an' when he brought it in an' dusted it off with his hat an' looked at it, I says: 'Shorty, she's a dandy! I. Codfish for breakfast, as I'm a Mexican!'"

"It was'n't no slouch of a fish, either; it was long, and well put up, a little heavy in front, I thought, but then the fish ain't built like a sewer or hoon. Its head was cut off and it was all dressed in good shape, only its tail was left on, but Shorty said that was to handle it by, an' then he tried to poornie over the head with it in fun, but I yanked it away from him an' hung it up by my Winchester, where the dog couldn't git it, and let it there for the night."

"Next mornin' we got up early an' cut off a steak from 'round the neck of our fish, cooked it, slapped it onto the table, an' yelled 'Breakfast!' Then we waited into it. It tasted a deal like takin' a big lump of salt on your fork, bitin' off a mouthful, chewin' 'n' swallowin' it, an' goin' for it again! The boys kicked, but I told 'em codfish was always salt, an' so we cleaned it out at last. Then we went down to the creek an' sort o' laid 'round till noon an' robbed the 2,000 head o' cattle there is on the ranch of the water they order had. I never saw nothing hang by a feller like that fish did. 'Bout noon I came back up an' put the critter to soak in a water bar'l. We left it there till the next mornin' an' tackled it again. Still too salt. Then I left it two days an' took another whack at it. Couldn't go it yet. Then I tied one end of a lar'le round its tail an' let it down in the well and left it a week. By that time the water was so salty we couldn't use it, but it hadn't freshened the cod enough to speak of. Then I hove it upon the roof an' let it rain on it a couple o' days an' afterwards I carried it up on a pole in front of the shack an' let the wind kinder blow through its whiskers for a few days. It seemed to be gettin' some better, but we still went in more on bacon than we did on fish. I was mad by this time an' I took it to the creek and staked it down to the bottom, where the current was rapid, an' said if it didn't spoil the water for the stock I'd leave it there a month. It staid there till recently, when one o' the boys brought it up. It was gettin' quite soft an' limber like, an' I reckon we've done it at last. It may be a little water-soaked, but the salt is knocked. I tell you the ocean must be a powerful sight saltier than I ever loved it was, to git a fish loaded plumb full of it like this was. This fish, by the way, was a water fish after it. It'll be hanged if I believe a fish is fit to eat after it's awum round in salt water mobby ten years an' got it all soaked through it. I should think they'd have scales on 'em to kinder keep it out partly."
